ECHO LOW TABLES

LAURAMERONI
design . collection

Set of three round low tables with brass structure and glass and marble tops, whose heights complement each other.

A triangular frame between the two offset roundels of marble and glass: elemental geometry articulated across three-dimensional space, marking out the uniqueness of ECHO. The details and workings reveal sophisticated handcraft skills.

Brushed brass, Guatemala marble, ash stone and extra-clear transparent glass are just some of the finishes available. These tables, with their balance of forces and geometrical effects, are a perfect solution for sophisticated environments.

The "Shadow" collection includes three coffee tables with different sizes and heights, which can be combined together thanks to the sophisticated elegance.

The juxtaposition of the various finishes of the structure and the wide selection of top surfaces amplifies the contemporary and refined design of the sinuous line of its structure.

The particular lacquered structure of the table creates a game of "empty and full" that dialogues with the two overlapping top surfaces embellished with the use of "Green Guatemala Marble".

The 50 cm high version can be interpreted as a refined bedside table and placed next to modern beds in refined bedrooms.

The use of glass as an upper supporting surface multiplies the geometries and lines of the coffee table design. The juxtaposition of the various tables creates an aesthetically pleasing game of proportions.
