ELEMENTO CONSOLE

LAURAMERONI
design . collection

Modular console that alternates glass and marble or wood tops. The console can be customized in length and finishes by choosing from the modules and the materials in the catalog.

The console combines with the "Elemento" table already present in the collection. The project was born from the idea of creating a product with a light appearance and based on the alternation of precious materials.

The combined use of the various modules and the alternation of the materials chosen, allows you to customize both the length of the console and its aesthetic effect. The crystal bases accentuate the perception that the surface of the plane floats in space.

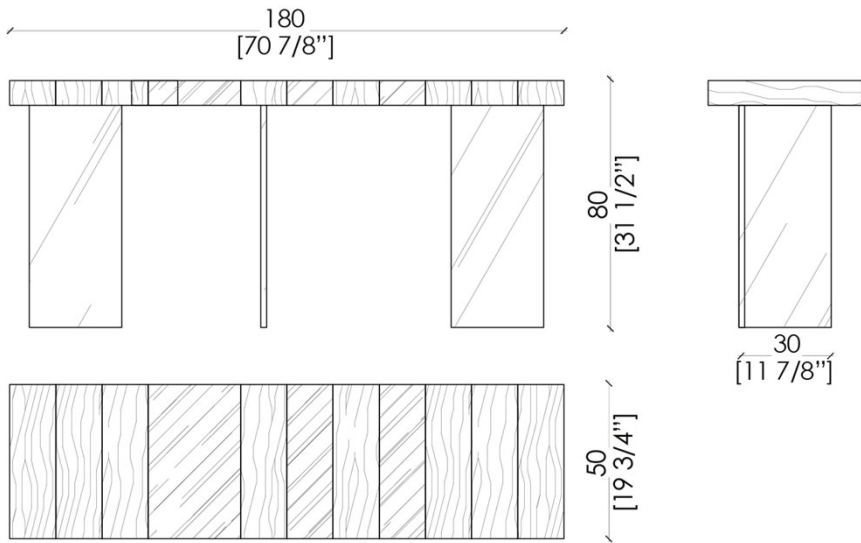

A console that combines lightness and elegance and that can be easily interpreted and customized in dimensions and finishes. It defines the space that surrounds it with discretion and makes it pleasantly attractive.

The perfect and meticulous attention to detail between the modules of different finishes makes the surface of the console smooth and gives the feeling that the two materials are in perfect fusion with each other.

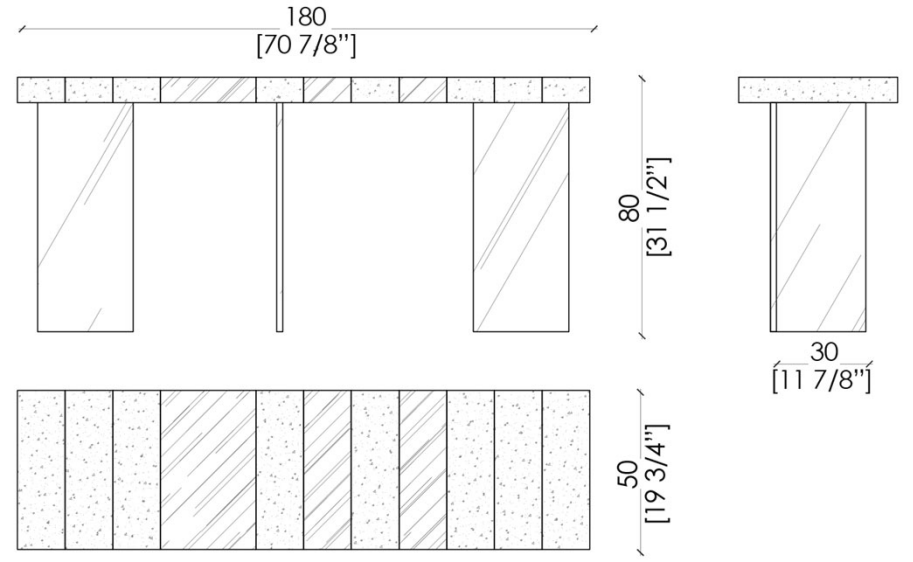

The elegance and lightness of the design of this console gives allows it to be positioned at the center of an environment to outline different functional and relationship areas.

The glass modules were designed as openable cases to place precious or collectible objects. The sober elegance and lightness of the crystal bases give the feeling that the surface of the support surface is suspended in the air.
