LINE HINGED DOOR

LAURAMERONI
design . collection

Wood veneered hinged door with vertical brass channels, available in different dimensions and in combination with Line wall panels.

It is available in all woods of the collection and with satin or burnished brass channels and doorframe. Line door is characterized by a brass doorframe with no architrave.

The combination of wood and brass creates a continuous wall, where the succession of vertical bands incorporates the door space, making it a unique system.

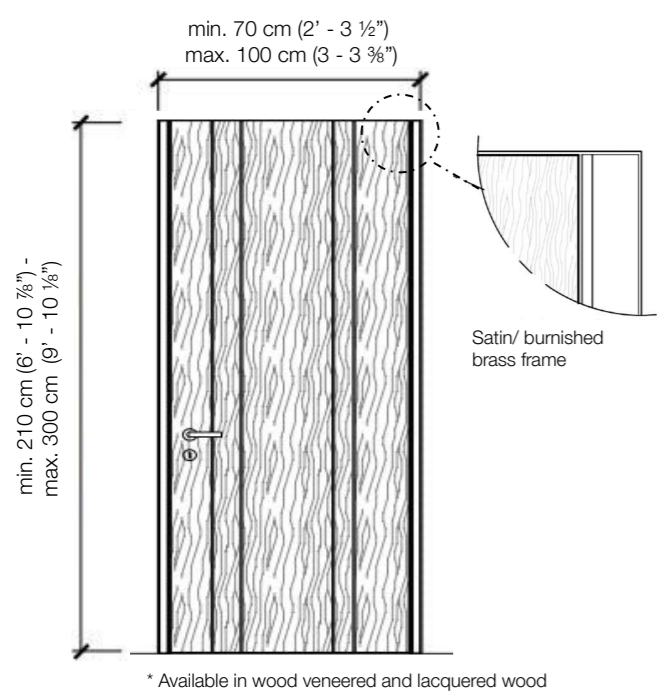

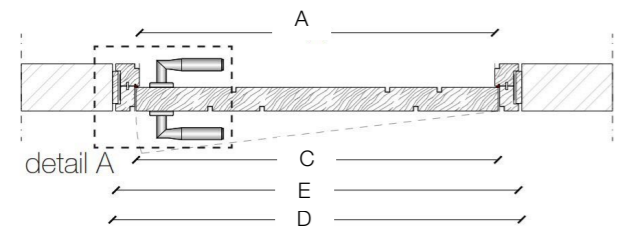

The combination of wood and brass creates a continuous wall, where the succession of vertical bands incorporates the door space, making it a unique system.

The Line door is extremely elegant and thus perfect for all those environments in which luxury is conceived in an essential yet extremely refined way.
